

Joy Altermatt, DVM, MS, DACT

Dr. Joy Altermatt is originally from Terry, Montana. A graduate from Montana State University-Bozeman with a BS in Animal Science, she went on to Colorado State University College of Veterinary Medicine, obtaining her DVM in 2004. Pursuing her passion of large animal fertility, she completed a MS in Biomedical Sciences with emphasis in assisted reproduction technologies at CSU's Animal Reproduction and Biotechnology Laboratory. Dr. Joy became board-certified in the American College of Theriogenologists (reproduction specialty) in 2008. Since then, she has been serving her clients in private practice and sharing knowledge as lecturer at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo since 2012.

